

Important Texts in SOCIAL SCIENCES

including
Education

Pergamon

PERGAMON PRESS

44-01 21st Street, Long Island City, N. Y. 11101

55-19 K-64
MR THEODOR NELSON
SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT
YASSAR COLLEGE
POUGHKEEPSIE N Y 12602

BULK RATE
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
NEW YORK, N. Y.
PERMIT NO. 12741

STATE _____ ZIP CODE _____

This subject catalogue describes new and recent college text and reference materials in the social sciences and education, published jointly by Pergamon Press of New York and Oxford, and distributed in the Western Hemisphere by Pergamon Press Inc., of New York and Pergamon of Canada, Ltd. of Toronto.

Please address all orders and correspondence to the College Department at the appropriate address below, giving complete title and author's name.

TO ORDER

FORTHCOMING TITLES

Orders for titles not yet published will be held. Books will be shipped immediately upon publication. Forthcoming titles are listed with the approximate price and date of publication.

All prices are subject to change without notice.

College teachers wishing to consider texts for possible classroom adoption may examine on approval for 30 days any title listed in this catalogue. Upon adoption for class use in quantities of five or more, the examination copy becomes the instructor's desk copy without obligation. If found unsuitable for adoption, the volume may be purchased at a 10% educational discount, or returned for full credit.

TEXTBOOK EXAMINATION COPIES

Please address all inquiries for the United States to:

College Division
Pergamon Press Inc.
44-01 21st Street
Long Island City
New York 11101

and for Canada to:

College Department
Pergamon of Canada Ltd.
6 Adelaide Street East
Toronto, Canada

INFORMATION U.S.S.R.

A unique, authoritative and up-to-date work of reference on the Soviet Union, compiled with the assistance and co-operation of the Editors of the Great Soviet Encyclopaedia, Moscow.

Edited by ROBERT MAXWELL

This is an indispensable source of reference for all persons who are interested in or whose work or studies require them to know or refer to and quote facts concerning the Soviet Union, its geography and history, its peoples, political and governmental institutions, industry, science, culture, sports, and the many other facets that make up a great nation's life and work. The volume contains a vast mass of information classified by subject for easy reference. It is profusely illustrated and contains over one million words. In addition, many topical articles have been added.

CONTENTS

State structure; Natural characteristics; Population; Historical outline; The Communist Party of the Soviet Union (K.P.S.S.); The All-union Lenin League of the Communist Youth (KOMSOMOL); Trade Unions; National economy; Science and scientific instruments; Health services; Physical culture and sport; Public education; Press and broadcasting; Armed forces; Literature; Art and architecture; Music; Theatre and cinema; Voluntary societies; Religion and the church; Union republics; Chronological tables; Appendices; Name index; Subject index.

1962

982 pages

$30.—$33.00 Canadian

"This is far more than a book—and one that ought to be in every library worth the name throughout the length and breadth of English-speaking lands"—Nature

INFORMATION HUNGARY

A unique, authoritative and up-to-date work of reference especially written by the Members of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.

Edited by ROBERT MAXWELL

The purpose of this volume is to present a full and accurate picture of the country from material originating from the pen of Hungarian authors. The essential inclusion of the history of the country enables the reader to appreciate the large number of unsolved problems of a social, cultural and economic nature which have been inherited, and to judge the way in which these problems have been handled in the past two decades. The text is factual and technical without rendering it unintelligible to the non-specialist reader. Events covered and statistical data are included up to 1963, and in some cases to 1964.

CONTENTS

The Hungarian People's Republic; Geography and the people of Hungary; The history of Hungary; State and society; Economic life; Public health—physical culture; Public education—public culture; Scientific life; Literature, theatre, cinema; Other arts; International relations; Hungary in figures; Who is who; Name and subject index; Chronological tables.

In preparation approx. 1,000 pages approx. $30.00—$33.00 Canadian

FIRST CLASS
Permit No. 663
Long Island City
New York

BUSINESS
REPLY MAIL

NO POSTAGE STAMP NECESSARY IF MAILED IN THE UNITED STATES

POSTAGE WILL BE PAID BY —

Pergamon Press

44-01 21st Street

Long Island City, New York 11101

ATTENTION: DIRECTOR
COLLEGE DIVISION

FIRST CLASS
Permit No. 663
Long Island City
New York

BUSINESS
REPLY MAIL

NO POSTAGE STAMP NECESSARY IF MAILED IN THE UNITED STATES

POSTAGE WILL BE PAID BY —

Pergamon Press

44-01 21st Street

Long Island City, New York 11101

ATTENTION: DIRECTOR
COLLEGE DIVISION

IMPORTANT INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH JOURNALS IN SOCIAL SCIENCES, INCLUDING EDUCATION

Pergamon Press is the publisher of over 120 international research journals in the physical, life and social sciences, and in education. Below is a list of Pergamon journals in the field of this subject catalogue.

A complete list of the journals, subscription details and sample copies available on request.

Audio-Visual Media, International Review of	Quarterly
Behaviour Research and Therapy	Quarterly
British Journal of Addiction	Quarterly
Child Psychology and Psychiatry, Journal of	Quarterly
Co-Existence	Twice per year
Comparative Education	3 times per year
Educational Sciences	Quarterly
Head Teachers Review	Quarterly
Industrial Training International	Monthly
Neuropsychologia	Quarterly
Psychiatric Research, Journal of	Quarterly
Psychosomatic Research, Journal of	Quarterly
Regional Studies	Twice per year
Scottish Educational Journal, The	Weekly
Social Science and Medicine	Quarterly
Socio-Economic Planning Sciences	Quarterly
Teaching Arithmetic	3 times per year
Transportation Research	Quarterly
Vocational Aspect of Secondary and Further Education, The	3 times per year

RETURN THE ATTACHED ORDER CARD
TO EXAMINE OR ORDER ANY TITLE
DESCRIBED IN THIS CATALOGUE

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
Developing Countries	2
Education	4
Geography	9
History	11
Political Science and Economics	16
Psychology and Psychiatry	25
Sociology and Anthropology	39

DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

AGRARIAN DEVELOPMENT IN PEASANT ECONOMIES

E. S. Clayton, University of London

An analysis of successful development in Kenya, with discussion of methods to increase productivity in other peasant economies and the role of government and private initiative.

CONTENTS

The beginnings of rural progress; Post-war policies and developments; The agrarian revolution; Certain features of peasant agriculture; The economies of peasant agriculture; Government and agrarian development; Further problems of agrarian reform; Summary; Appendix; Index.

1964 164 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

AID TO AFRICA

I. M. D. Little, Oxford University

An appraisal of current aid programs for African countries south of the Sahara, compiled from the results of an on-the-spot survey.

CONTENTS

The growth of a population; The problem of absorptive capacity; The uses of aid and its supervision; Donor's policies; Financial aid and U.K. policy; Technical assistance; Conclusions; Glossary.

1964 88 pages Flexi-covered, $1.45

PEOPLE AND PROGRESS IN WEST AFRICA

R. Hallett

This book surveys the problems—agricultural, geographical, social and cultural—which affect African development and the progress being made to overcome poverty.

CONTENTS

The importance of West Africa; The idea of development; The land and its resources; People; Family relationships and social attitudes; Health and disease; Education; Agriculture; Communications; Trade; Industry; Life in towns; Politics and government; The cost of development; International co-operation; Aids; International co-operation; Organizations; The price of progress.

1966 161 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

SOCIAL JUSTICE

R. W. Baldwin

This is an entirely new synthesis of ethics and economics which interprets social justice as justice in social and economic affairs, defining them both directly and by distribution from the second great moral principle of beneficence.

CONTENTS

Justice, equality and equity; Liberty, opportunity and law; Justice, work and wealth; Exchange between two persons; Exchange between large numbers; Discrimination and combination; Ownership and income; Demand and need; Justice and property; Beneficence; The extent of beneficence; Competition and co-operation place; The morality of the market place; Beneficence, welfare and justice; Welfare economics; Domestic trade—International trade; Wages, prices and inflation—Ethics of distribution—Application of principles; The state and the individual—industry—The welfare state; Synopsis.

1966 300 pages $7.50—$8.25 Canadian

THE SOCIAL STRUCTURE OF MODERN BRITAIN

E. A. Johns, Cornwall Technical College

This volume describes the main elements in the social structure of Great Britain, providing a broad introduction to the subject which can then be augmented from the reading lists provided. This survey provides an excellent basis for students, particularly those in courses of social stratification, to further study along the many avenues suggested by each section.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Aspects of population; The family; The class structure; Education; Leisure; Political aspects of society; Social controls—religion; References; Suggestions for further reading; Index.

1965 194 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

See also, under Education, E. J. King, Education and Social Change, and P. Ritter, Educreation; under Developing Countries, G. Evans, War on Want.

PLANNING FOR MAN AND MOTOR

P. Ritter

This monumental book is a detailed study of the problems caused by the motor car in modern urban society. Mr. Ritter—town planner, architect, and sociologist—expresses his ideas on planning for people and cars in old cities as well as new towns, in 22 different countries. The book is indispensable for courses in city planning and will interest anyone concerned with problems of urban sociology.

1964 396 pages $15.00—$16.50 Canadian

PRIMITIVE MONEY

In its Ethnological, Historical and Economic Aspects
Second Edition, Revised and Enlarged

P. Einzig

This book describes and analyzes the widest possible range of primitive monetary systems, including those used by primitive races in recent times and systems used by advanced races in various phases of their history. The book will be valuable to economic anthropologists, to students of economics interested in the historical background of money and to economic historians.

CONTENTS

Ethnological—Oceania; Asia; Africa; America, Historical—Ancient Period; Medieval period; Modern Period; Theoretical—What is primitive money?; The origin of money; The value of primitive money; The functions of primitive money; Primitive money policy; The philosophy of primitive money; Bibliography; Indices.

1966 562 pages $15.00—$16.50 Canadian

READINGS IN THE SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION

Edited by J. Brothers, University of London

This is the first volume in a unique series of readings in sociology. Each volume consists of a collection of articles on a specialized aspect of sociology by an international team of contributors, and a special feature is the inclusion of a number of articles translated into English from European and other sources. The present volume deals with the sociology of religion and presents both European and American work.

CONTENTS

Introduction; What is the sociology of religion?; The sociology of religion in England; The theoretical development of the sociology of religion; Weber's sociological theory and the modern dilemma of value and belief in the social sciences; Objectivity in research in the sociology of religion; Religious sociology and science of religions; Religious sociology and its aims; The role of reference groups in the integration of religious attitudes; Institutional analysis; Religion and society. Biographical notes.

Summer 1967 256 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

THE UNITED NATIONS AT WORK

Developing Land, Forests, Oceans. . . .and People

J. M. Jones, Tufts University

A noted authority on development problems discusses the needs of the world in the areas of agriculture, food and forestry and the efforts of the United Nations to combat hunger and overpopulation.

CONTENTS

Land, forests, oceans. . . and people; The United Nations at work; The food and agriculture organization of the United Nations, New approaches; Index.

1965 254 pages Flexi-covered, $3.95

WORLD III

A Handbook on Developing Countries

A. Moyes and T. Hayter, Overseas Development Institute, London

A handbook for all interested in the under-developed countries, their problems and future. Significant facts are graphically presented in diagram form.

CONTENTS

Developing countries today; Economic development; Financial resources for development—trade, aid, foreign private investment, taxation and other "invisibles"; Appendices; Index.

1964 152 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

WAR ON WANT

Report of a Conference on the United Nations Development Decade

Edited by G. Evans, Economic Advisory Committee, United Nations Association

This book records the discussion that took place at the first conference on the U.N. Development Decade, held at Cambridge, England in April 1963. Produced on a non-profit making basis, the volume will be of immense interest to all concerned with problems of economic and social development in the under-developed countries of the world.

CONTENTS

Introduction by William Clark, Chairman of the Conference; Background to the problem—J. E. Meade; Human resources, education, training and technical assistance—Malcolm S. Adiseshiah; Capital and financial aid—Andrew Shonfield; International trade—an essential instrument for economic development—J. E. Meade; Co-ordination and institutions—Paul Marc Henry; Rapporteurs, summaries and general conclusions.

1962 180 pages Flexi-covered, $1.45

See also, under Economics, W. M. Clarke, Private Enterprise in Developing Countries.

EDUCATION

APPROACHES TO ADULT TEACHING

Edited by N. Dees, University of Glasgow

This book describes the processes of adult learning and teaching against a background of the history of the adult education movement from the 18th century to the present day.

CONTENTS

Background and forecast—Norman Dees; Archaeology—J. X. W. P. Corcoran; History and politics—H. J. Smith and J. G. S. Shearer; Economics—F. Gillanders; An aspect of international relations: Asian studies—R. A. Williams; Foreign languages—C. J. Titmus; English language and literature—S. Davies; Art and music—M. Bailie and T. B. Wilson; Science—W. C. Hutchinson; Psychology—P.A.D. Gardner; Selected Bibliography; Appendix.

1965 190 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

A BIOLOGICAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL BACKGROUND TO EDUCATION

C. G. Hussell, University of Durham
A. F. Laing, University College of Swansea

An introductory text on those aspects of human biology and psychology which have an influence on education, addressed primarily to students in schools of education and physical education.

CONTENTS

Part I: The biological background and its educational implications. The importance of man's biological background; The biological nature of man; The nature of the vital processes; The control of the vital processes; Reproduction and sex education; Genetic factors in the life of man; Evolution and the concept of man; Development and growth; Movement, posture and exercise; Health and the teacher's responsibility.
Part II: The psychological background and its educational implications. The social heritage of man; Higher mental processes; The structure of personality; The teaching of normal children; Freedom and restriction; Differences in children; Failure to learn; Personality disorders; The teaching of children with difficulties in learning; Bibliography.

1967 234 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

EDUCATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

E. J. King, University of London

This book is intended as a first introduction to the study of education in relation to the world of today. Although the book has particular applications to the educational system in England, the author raises many issues which concern educators throughout the world. The book is suitable for use in education courses, and also in courses which link educational development with sociological or economic studies.

INTRODUCTION TO SEMANTICS

Adam Schaff, University of Warsaw

This comprehensive exposition of the entire area of semantics is the first work to link Marxist and linguistic philosophy. As a result of new emphasis on meaning and language traditional attitudes have been discarded and many problems clarified. This book deals with such matters as conditions of effective communication, the theory of signs, natural and conventional language and the meaning of "meaning" itself.

1962 395 pages $7.50—$8.25 Canadian

AN INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY

B. S. R. Green
E. A. Johns, Exeter Technical College

Intended for first-year undergraduate students, this introductory textbook presents sociology as a scientific discipline. Avoiding broad generalizations, the authors introduce students to the theoretical approaches, the methods of inquiry and the terminology of sociology and are primarily concerned with how sociologists go about their work rather than with what they have discovered.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Sociology as a scientific discipline; Some sociological definitions; The subject matter of sociology; Some institutional areas of society; The structural-functional approach to social analysis; Middle-range theories of social behavior; Bibliography; Index.

1967 164 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

INSTRUMENTS OF COMMUNICATION An Essay on Scientific Writing

P. Meredith, The University of Leeds

The aim of this book is to present in as simple a form as the subject will allow, a new approach, both theoretical and pragmatic, to the communication and activation of scientific ideas and to investigate the nature of language. The book is suitable for use as a supplementary text or reference book in courses concerned with the presentation of scientific information, and will be useful to psychologists and philosophers concerned with the fundamentals of language.

CONTENTS

On the Communication of understanding; On the meaning of science; On forms of representation; On the instrumentality of language; On the writing of science; Appendix; On the syntax of concepts.

1966 645 pages $21.50—$23.65 Canadian

CONTENTS

Guardianship—the legitimate child; Guardianship—the illegitimate child; Adoption; Child care; Property rights and obligations of infants and their maintenance; Children and the Law of Tort; Infants' contracts; The deprived and the delinquent juvenile; Methods of treatment of juveniles.

1965 96 pages Flexi-covered, $1.50

EDUCATION AND SOCIAL WORK

F. H. Pedley, Editor

A collection of articles on various aspects of co-ordination between education and social work.

CONTENTS

Education and social work; A socio-educational system; Personal education; From school to work; a counselling service; The professional social worker; The task of social work; Appendices; Index.

Spring, 1967 approx. 180 pages Flexi-covered, approx. $2.95

ELEMENTS OF THE NATURAL MOVEMENT OF POPULATION

E. Vielrose, University of Warsaw

The fruit of some twenty years' work in the field of demography, this book is a factual study of demographic phenomena against their historical background.

CONTENTS

Source and quality of information on the state and movement of population; Degree of accuracy of demographic rates; Structure of the population by age and marital status; Marriage and divorce; Births; Deaths; Index.

1965 296 pages $10.00—$11.00 Canadian

ENERGY, Its Production, Conversion and Use in the Service of Man

P. Sporn, American Electric Power Company, New York

In these three lectures presented at Columbia University, the author describes, in non-technical language, the part energy has played in the advancement of civilization and predicts the probable consumption of energy in the United States in the years 1975-2000 and the sources from which energy will then be drawn.

Spring, 1967 84 pages Flexi-covered, $1.25

CONTENTS

Part I: The Background of Change. Education transformed; An explosion of commitment; Public interest—private energy; Educational planning and prediction. Part II: The Institutions of Education. School systems in transformation—From primary schools onward; School systems in transformation—secondary schools; Growing comprehensiveness; Higher education. Part III: Decisions of Policy for the Future. Teaching and learnings; Open questions; Further reading; Index.

1967 246 pages Flexi-covered, $3.50

EDUCREATION

Education for Creation, Growth and Change

P. Ritter, City Planner and Architect of Perth, Western Australia

Fresh and original ideas for a new pattern of development for higher education, for which the author has coined the term 'Educreation,' are given in this challenging book. Particular reference is made to schools of architecture and environmental design, and proposals deal with selection, staffing, teaching and learning techniques, work relations and administration.

CONTENTS

Context and orientation; The basis of educreation; General implications of educreation; The techniques of educreation in architectural education; Bibliography.

1966 398 pages Flexi-covered, $5.50

FILM IN HIGHER EDUCATION AND RESEARCH

P. D. Groves, College of Advanced Technology, England

This volume consists of the proceedings of a conference which demonstrated the uses of film in teaching and research. The lectures were given by distinguished film workers, and the illustrations included in this volume are taken from the scientific and teaching films which were shown.

CONTENTS

Section I—The film and the university; Section II—The supply of films; Film sources; Classification, requirements for, and availability of films in chemistry; Organizing university film services; Section III—Films in teaching; Film as a teaching aid; Film and technological education; Discussion—the future for film in higher education; Section IV—Film in research; Research film, the need for a different approach; High speed cinematography in higher education and research; The film in building and civil engineering research; Techniques in time lapse cinematography; Section V—The production of films; Appendices; Indices.

1966 344 pages Flexi-covered, $4.95

HOW TO FIND OUT
Second Revised Edition

G. Chandler, City Librarian, Liverpool

A comprehensive guide to sources of information, on all subjects, arranged by the Dewey Decimal classification. Designed to fill the needs of students at schools, colleges and universities, the book has been revised and enlarged to include 200 new sources of information and 26 new illustrations.

CONTENTS

How to find information; How to trace books; Libraries and information bureaux; Indexes to periodicals; Local, national and international sources of information; Philosophy and religion; Social sciences and commerce; Dictionaries and translations; Pure sciences: mathematics, astronomy, physics, chemistry; The earth, biological and medical sciences; Applied science and engineering; Chemical technology; Management, productivity and special industries; The arts, recreations and literature; Geography, biography and history; Index of subjects, titles and authors.

1966 224 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

HOW TO FIND OUT: EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

D. J. Foskett, University of London

An introduction to the literature of educational research, describing in an eminently readable way the areas of research, the organizations which carry it out, how the research is published and organized, and how the publications can best be used. The book is intended primarily for librarians and education specialists but has many peripheral applications.

CONTENTS

Preface; Teaching and the communicating of knowledge; The organization of educational research; Organizing the literature; The library as a teaching instrument; How to use the literature; Specific fields of research; Philosophy and sociology of religion; Administration; Comparative education; Psychology and education; Teaching methods; Index.

1965 132 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

ON TEACHING FOREIGN LANGUAGES TO ADULTS

Edited by M. and J. Lowe, University of Edinburgh

A symposium of articles on modern methods of language teaching by British experts in the field.

CONTENTS

The problem in perspective; The language laboratory; The Saint-Cloud method; Teaching languages by radio; The liberal approach in a large center; Language-teaching for extra-mural students: an experiment; Vocational and non-vocational work in Institutes of Further Education; Textbooks: The present situation; Teaching languages for specific purposes; A list of language laboratories and language teaching tapes; Appendices; Examinations available to adults; Some examination papers examined.

1965 172 pages Flexi-covered, $3.95

THERAPIST-PATIENT EXPECTANCIES IN PSYCHOTHERAPY

A. P. Goldstein, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

This book is a comprehensive and critical review of the literature and research which relates to the problems of therapist and patient expectancies in therapy. It provides a stimulating source of information for graduate students in psychotherapy.

CONTENTS

Expectancy and human behavior; Patient prognostic expectancies; Therapist prognostic expectancies; Participant role expectancies; Expectancy and therapy duration; Unspontaneous remission; Placebo effects; Summary and conclusions; References; Index.

1962 141 pages $4.50—$4.95 Canadian

UNWILLINGLY TO SCHOOL

J. H. Kahn, Child Guidance Clinic, West Ham, England
J. P. Nursten, West Riding County Child Guidance Service, England

Of interest to all concerned with the diagnosis and treatment of the specific problem posed by those children who refuse to go to school, this book is written for professional workers, and shows the place of the child guidance clinic in the treatment of school phobia.

CONTENTS

Part I: The psychosocial problem of school refusal—An overview of the problems of truancy and school phobia; Historical background. Part II: The facilities for the treatment of school phobia—The social services; Medical and clinical services. Part III: Treatment within the child guidance clinic—The psychopathological basis for treatment; School phobia as an intrapsychic disorder; The role of the psychiatrist; The role of the psychologist; The psychiatric social worker's role—case illustration; The need for a multidisciplinary approach; Appendix; Bibliography.

1964 187 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

See also, under Education, C. G. Russell and A. F. Laing, A Biological and Psychological Background to Education; and under, Sociology and Anthropology, Pedley, Education and Social Work, and Creber, Human Relations and Personnel.

SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

CHILDREN AND THE LAW

T. E. James

This book gives in a direct, uncomplicated style a general picture of the rights and obligations of children, according to the law with particular application to the situation in the United Kingdom.

SPEECH AND THOUGHT IN SEVERE SUBNORMALITY

N. O'Connor and B. Hermelin, Institute of Psychiatry, Maudsley Hospital, London

In this comprehensive study of severe retardation, the authors are concerned with the effect of imbecility on speech, problem solving, thinking and learning. The book is essential reading for students in advanced courses of abnormal and clinical psychology and for educators specializing in mental retardation.

CONTENTS

Intelligence and thinking; Learning and problem solving in the severely subnormal; Visual perception and severe subnormality; Some experiments on words and communication; Thought and language; Cross modal 'coding'; Recall and recognition; Mongols and other imbeciles; Theoretical and practical implications.

1963 122 pages $4.00—$4.40 Canadian

SPEECH DISORDERS

S. de Parrel

This full and clearly written account of infantile and adult disorders in speech, language and the psycho-neural motor system will be of value to those working in this field of remedial education. Practical recommendations for speech and hearing therapy are given in detail.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

Remedial education sessions suitable for children; Dysphonia-Rhinolalia (nasal speech); Defects of mental and psychic origin; Children with sensory defects; Retarded pupils; Psycho-neural motor defects; Sessions in remedial education designed for the adolescent and the adult; Adult asphasias; Creation of the vox per oesophagum in laryngectomy patients.

1965 226 pages $15.00—$16.50 Canadian

SYNDROMES OF PSYCHOSIS

M. Lörr, Catholic University of America
C. J. Klett, Veterans Administration Hospital
D. M. McNair, Veterans Administration

This book describes the isolation and confirmation of ten psychotic syndromes and presents a scheme for classifying individuals into six syndrome-based psychotic types. The researcher in the mental health field will find this book an invaluable aid.

CONTENTS

Introduction; A critique of current psychiatric classification; Isolation and measurement of ten psychotic syndromes; A review of factor analytic studies; The confirmed syndromes; Higher level syndromes; Validity of the syndromes; The syndrome circle; Classification and typing; A brief history of psychiatric classification; A review of typing studies; Syndrome-based types; Dimensions of type differences; Appendices; References; Indices.

1964 286 pages $10.00—$11.00 Canadian

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS An Important New Pergamon Series

Edited by E. J. King
University of London

The purpose of this series is to aid the understanding of world educational systems and trends by relating them to the wider cultural context of social and economic factors. The books in this series will be of particular interest to students of education taking courses in comparative education and history of education.

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS IN ENGLAND

G. Baron, University of London Institute of Education

The book presents a systematic, balanced account of changing purposes in English education, not simply in terms of present day crises and plans, but in terms of the efforts made over the past 150 years to fit education to the needs of a democratic and industrial society. The book can be used in conjunction with the other books in this series in courses of comparative education.

CONTENTS

Historical foundations; The social and economic foreground; Education and government; The changing schools; Higher education and new needs; Education and industry; Opportunities for education.

1966 244 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS IN FRANCE

W. D. Halls, Oxford University

This book gives an account of the background to French education and how it is organized today. It deals with the social, economic and political aspects of the educational reforms begun in 1959 and still continuing.

CONTENTS

Foreword; Introduction; National goals and ideas; The historical perspective; The social background; Economics and educational planning; The control and organization of education; The common school; 15-18; Technical education; Higher education; The teachers; "Prospective"; Langevin-Mallon plan; Important dates; Index.

1966 216 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS IN NIGERIA

L. J. Lewis, University of London Institute of Education

This book describes the relationship to education of social and economic development in Nigeria. This volume discusses the problem of the need to relate the education of the illiterate to economic development. This is the first assessment of educational progress in Nigeria since the Addis Ababa Conference in 1961. Documentation includes official papers recently published.

CONTENTS

Introduction; The country and its people; Development of modern education, 1571-1925; Development of modern education, 1926-1960; The content and methodology of education; Ancillary education services; The universities and teacher education; Problems of adaptation; Organization, planning and the future; Appendices: 1) Federal Ministry of Education; Headquarters Organization, 2) The control of education, 3) The educational ladder, 4) Select general bibliography.

1965 178 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS IN SCANDINAVIA

C. W. Dixon, University of London Institute of Education

The author of this book is the acknowledged English-speaking expert in Scandinavian educational matters. This volume describes the structure of practices, social conditions and institutions which have built up the educational systems of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. This book will be invaluable to all those wishing to understand the contemporary scene in Scandinavia.

CONTENTS

Introduction to Scandinavia; Land and work; Social policy and welfare; Politics and administration; Tradition and contemporary policy; Education in Denmark; Education in Norway; Education in Sweden; Change and progress; Short bibliography

1966 206 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

SOCIETY, SCHOOLS AND PROGRESS IN THE U.S.A.

E. J. King, University of London

"This is an entertaining, compact and useful study of American education and cultural development. . . It is salutary, exciting and unnerving to have a foreigner write such a complete account of our educational system in a compact yet successful manner. This book will be useful as an introduction to American education for the some 100,000 foreign students who are in America each year for their education." — Peabody Journal of Education

CONTENTS

The context of the United States of America; Who are "The People"?; Parochial, private and separate; The child in the school; From high school to higher education; Teachers, teaching and learning; Freedom to shape the new America; The domestic scene; American education and the world; Index.

1966 260 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

STATISTICS FOR THE TEACHER

D. M. McIntosh, Director of Education, Fife County Council, Scotland

A knowledge of elementary statistics is necessary in order to interpret and mark examination results correctly. This book helps practicing and prospective teachers obtain a fuller understanding of the significance and legitimate use of examination marks.

THE SEARCH FOR SANITY

S. Leff and V. Leff

The authors discuss the vital subject of community and individual mental health and illness and the part the public plays in helping and understanding those suffering from mental illness. The relationship between modern society and mental breakdown is explored. The book will be instructive to medical students, student nurses and others with a practical association with the subject.

CONTENTS

Is society sick?; Society and mental health; Sex can cause trouble; Power destroys people; The escape from reality; What is behind the treatment?; How treatment helps; Care in the Hospital; How the community can help; The search for sanity; Bibliography.

1965 146 pages Flexi-covered, $3.50

SEEING AND PERCEIVING

C. W. Wilman

Both the psychological and physical aspects of the act of seeing are considered in this interesting introductory survey of the whole field of visual perception. The book considers the interrelation of objective and subjective aspects of seeing, and vision is considered as an active process not as a passive response to external stimuli.

CONTENTS

The act of seeing; The eyes; Physical aids and hindrances; Seeing clearly, and failing to see; Building up the mental image; False impressions; Things, and the spaces between them; Seeing in three dimensions; Vision from multiple viewpoints; Binocular by-ways; Seeing things move; Interpretations; Colour and the physicist; Seeing colours; Analysis and synthesis of colour; Side effects of colour; Looking at pictures; References and short bibliography; Index.

1966 158 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

SOME APPROACHES TO TEACHING AUTISTIC CHILDREN

Edited by P. T. B. Weston for The Society of Autistic Children, London

This is a collection of authoritative papers presenting the experiences of numerous pioneer teachers of autistic children, and the results they are achieving.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Acknowledgements; An approach to the severely disturbed child; Autistic children in a day nursery; Education of psychotic children; An account of work at Smith Hospital, Henley-on-Thames; An education program for psychotic children; Non-learning children—A preliminary evaluation; Aphasic children in a school for the deaf; A school for autistic Children; Medical aspects of the education of psychotic (autistic) children.

1966 74 pages Flexi-covered, $1.50

PSYCHOPATHIC DISORDERS

M. Craft, Oakwood Park Hospital, England

This non-technical book describes the background of the concept of Psychopathic Disorder which came into operation in 1959 in the new British Mental Health Act, how it has been used and the number of patients involved since this date. The various contributors, experts in their field, do not deal with recent research but how psychopaths are caused, what the term means, various special texts which can be used in this diagnosis, and the history of the Law on the subject in England.

CONTENTS

Foreword by the Earl of Longford; The meaning of the term "Psychopath"; Law and practice of psychopathic disorder in England and Wales; Liberty, liability, capability; The causation of psychopathic disorder; Specialist procedures; Method of care; Law and practice in the U.S.A.; Facilities for the treatment of psychopaths in Britain; Conclusions.

1966 234 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

PSYCHOSOCIAL ASPECTS OF DRUG TAKING

Summarized by D. Sington

This short booklet is based on the proceedings of a one-day conference held at University College, London. Topics discussed include causes, motives and setting of drug taking; effects of drugs; overprescription and unlawful access; publicity, information and education; treatment, and research.

1966 45 pages Paperback, $1.50—$1.65 Canadian

RESIDENTIAL WORK WITH CHILDREN

R. Balbernie, University of Bristol

This book describes the work carried out in residential communities where deprived, delinquent or maladjusted children receive treatment. The information will be most valuable to teachers of exceptional children, and the book is suitable for use in courses in the psychology of variant children.

CONTENTS

Introduction; The history of residential work with difficult and deprived children up to the Report of the Committee on Maladjusted Children (1955); The Report and Recommendations of the Committee on Maladjusted Children and some of the problems raised by the report; Goodness of fit of organization to task; The first study and illustrative cases; The children who require special residential treatment and their families; Task, enterprise, processes, role clarification, inspired leadership and professional disciplines; Appendices; References; Index.

1966 248 pages $7.25—$8.00 Canadian

CONTENTS

Measurement in education; Interpretation of marks; Arranging marks; Average of mean; Scatter of marks; Comparison and addition of marks; Percentiles; The normal curve; Correlation; Difference between means; Appendices; Answers.

1963 136 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45
Revised Second Edition
Summer 1967

TECHNIQUES OF TEACHING

Volume 1: Primary Education
Volume 2: Secondary Education
Volume 3: Tertiary Education

Edited by A. D. C. Peterson, Oxford University

A wide variety of experts consider current teaching methods and practice, both "traditional" and "progressive" at all levels from nursery school to college.

CONTENTS

Volume 1: Introduction; The social education of infants; The teaching of reading; The teaching of number; The teaching of arts and crafts.

Volume 2: Introduction; The teaching of mathematics; The teaching of languages; The teaching of science; The teaching of history and geography; The teaching of religion and morals.

Volume 3: The teaching of English; College and university teaching; Vocational education; Adult education; Education by correspondence; Mass education for illiterates.

Vol. 1: 1965	160 pages	Three volume set, $7.50
Vol. 2: 1965	176 pages	Flexi-covered, $2.95
Vol. 3: 1965	188 pages	Flexi-covered, $2.95
		Flexi-covered, $2.95

GEOGRAPHY

A DICTIONARY OF NATURAL RESOURCES and their principal uses

N. Jackson, Vauxhall Manor School, London
P. Penn, Roxeth Manor Boys School, Harrow

A description of the world's natural resources, set out in dictionary form for quick reference. Every natural resource, animal, vegetable and mineral, of commercial value has been included. Each listing gives a general description and indicates what the resource is used for in the modern world.

1966 128 pages Flexi-covered, $2.50

A GEOGRAPHY OF THE SOVIET UNION

J. C. Dewdney, University College of Sierra Leone

A comprehensive geography of the U.S.S.R. for undergraduate courses, covering physical, historical, economic and population geography of the Soviet Union. "A good treatment of the geography of the U.S.S.R. as a whole. The maps, tables, and diagrams are clear and fit very admirably into the text." —Peabody Journal of Education.

CONTENTS

Structure of relief; Climate, soils, vegetation; Historical geography—the growth of the Russian state; The peoples of the Soviet Union; The administrative structure of the U.S.S.R.; Agriculture; The development of the soviet economy; Industrial resources; Industrial development; Transport; Population; Further reading; Index.

1966 160 pages Flexi-covered, $3.95

HOW TO FIND OUT IN GEOGRAPHY A Guide to Current Books in English

C. S. Minto, City Librarian and Curator, Edinburgh

A selective guide to sources of information in geography which will enable students and teachers of geography to make the best use of the material available to them in the library.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Classes 000-200: General works, philosophy and religion; Class 300: Social sciences; Class 500: Natural science; Classes 600-700: Useful arts and fine arts; Class 910: General works in geography; Division of class 910; Classes 911-12: Historical geography, atlases and maps; Class 914: Regional geography, Europe; Classes 915-16: Regional geography, North and South America; Class 919: Regional geography, the Pacific, Australasia, the Polar regions.

1966 114 pages Flexi-covered, $1.95

POPULATION GEOGRAPHY

J. I. Clarke, University of Durham

This book systematically treats most of the aspects of this new branch of geography and describes both the geography of population and the essentials of demography. The aim is to introduce the college student to population study, to explain the geographical approach and to suggest a frame of reference for regional population studies.

CONTENTS

What is population geography; Types and problems of data; World distribution of population; Measures of population density and distribution; Urban and rural populations; Patterns of population composition; Patterns of fertility; Patterns of mortality; Migrations (i) Internal (ii) International; Population growth; Population and resources.

1965 172 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

PRINCIPLES OF TRAINING

D. D. Holding, University of Leeds

Principles of Training is a reasoned survey of the results of research in training stressing advances made in the past decade in the U.S.A. and Britain. Such results have for the most part up to now been scattered throughout various journals, and are here made readily accessible for the first time in one volume. This book will make an excellent supplementary text for courses in industrial training.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Knowledge of results; Guidance; Visual methods; Words and actions; Practice; Transfer of training; Programmed learning; Recommendations; References; Index.

1965 168 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

PSYCHOLOGICAL TECHNIQUES IN DIAGNOSIS AND EVALUATION

T. C. Kahn, Southern Colorado State College

M. B. Giffen, U.S.A.F. Hospital

The authors aim to bring a better understanding of the work of the clinical psychologist to those in related professions. The more widely used psychological tests are described clearly and concisely and any psychological terms are explained. The book offers a review of psychological methodology with practical suggestions for evaluation and is therefore a valuable reference also to the practicing psychologist. It is suitable for use as a text in undergraduate courses on psychological techniques in personality testing or in survey courses in Clinical Psychology.

CONTENTS

Clinical psychology and medicine; Psychologists and their tests; Normals, character disorders, and differential diagnosis intelligence; Methods for testing and evaluating organic brain impairment; Identification of schizophrenia; Assessment of neurosis; Evaluation and testing of children; Psychological tests in vocational and educational guidance; Reporting the psychological findings; Bibliography; Index.

1960 164 pages $6.50—$7.15 Canadian

PSYCHOLOGY FOR PSYCHIATRISTS

C. G. Costello, Queens College

A review of the empirical data of psychology which provides the psychiatrist-in-training with abstracts from the voluminous literature on the subject. These abstracts represent the most pertinent information in relation to clinical practice. The book concentrates on empirical data and is completely up-to-date, and will also be of assistance to the practicing psychiatrist.

CONTENTS

Descriptive statistics; Reliability and validity; Drug research design; Arousal; Anxiety; Stress; Sleep and dreams; Hypnosis; Sensory and emotional deprivation; Sociometry; Groups; Roles; The self; Tests of thought disorder; Tests of organicity; Projective techniques; Questionnaires and rating scales; Infrequently used assessment techniques; Behavior therapy; References and author index; Subject index.

1966 328 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

PERSISTENT PERSECUTORY STATES OF THE ELDERLY

F. Post

Persistent paranoid states are responsible for some ten per cent of mental hospital admissions of elderly people. The author reviews past and recent literature on late schizophrenia and describes his personal experience with some 100 patients falling ill after the age of 60, and the possibility of curative treatment.

CONTENTS

Background of the study; Aims and methods of investigation; Clinical characteristics of patients; Three clinical syndromes; Methods of treatment and its effects; Prognostic factors; Theoretical issues; Some contributions to the study of schizophrenia; References; Index.

1966 112 pages $4.00—$4.40 Canadian

PERSONALITY AND AROUSAL

A Psychophysiological Study of Psychiatric Disorder

G. S. Claridge, University of Glasgow

This monograph reports the results of a program of research on psychoneurotic and psychotic patients carried out over several years. The interrelationship of psychological and physiological data is investigated fully. Experiments reported include examination of perceptual and psychomotor response, and personality variations in drug tolerance. The book is suitable as supplementary reading in courses in clinical psychology and psychological medicine.

CONTENTS

The theoretical background; Arousability and the sedation threshold; Autonomic and EEG correlates of arousal; Dysthymia-hysteria and psychological performance; Causal and descriptive analysis of dysthymia-hysteria; Studies in psychosis—Inter-group comparisons; Studies in psychosis—Intra-group analysis; Theoretical integration—A Theory of neuroses and psychosis; Theoretical integration—Implications of the theory for further research; Appendix; Bibliography; Indices.

Fall, 1967 220 pages

PRESENT-DAY RUSSIAN PSYCHOLOGY

A Symposium by Seven Authors

Edited by N. O'Connor

This work presents seven critical reviews on contemporary Soviet psychology by an international team of contributors. The only critical review in the English language of contemporary Russian work, this survey will be most valuable to students of psychology.

CONTENTS

Attention, consciousness and voluntary control of behaviour in Soviet psychology: Philosophical roots and research branches—J. A. Gray; Psychology in the Soviet Union—B. H. Kirman; Some statistical and cybernetic models in recent Soviet psychology—P. M. A. Rabbitt; Abnormal psychology in the U.S.S.R.—R. Lynn; Soviet Psycholinguistics—D. I. Slobin; Studies on the mental development of the child—L. Rahmani; Contemporary Soviet Psychology—J. Brozek.

1967 180 pages Flexi-covered, $4.95

HISTORY

BACKGROUND TO EASTERN EUROPE

F. B. Singleton, Bradford Institute of Technology

This book provides a frame of reference to assist in understanding the significance of the revolutionary changes which have occurred in the last generation. The book gives the essential geographical, historical and economic background necessary for an objective assessment of current events in the vital area of Europe which lies between the Soviet Union and the eastern borders of the NATO countries and will make an excellent supplementary text for courses in modern European or World History.

CONTENTS

Introduction—Geographical background; Historical survey—folk migrations, middle ages, the growth of multinational empires and the nationalist movements; Eastern Europe between the wars; Eastern Europe during the second world war; Eastern Europe today; Some problems of current interest—The German problem and Berlin, Hungary since 1956; The new course in Poland, Albania, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia between East and West, Rumania in the nineteen sixties; Conclusions.

1965 226 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

BACKGROUND TO THE ENGLISH CIVIL WAR

F. W. Jessup

This short anthology gives the background of the two middle decades of the seventeenth century. The issues that caused the English Civil War, both religious and political, are here presented in the words of the dramatis personae. The material has been gathered from speeches and documents of the period and will help students understand why events occurred as they did.

CONTENTS

The Stuarts arrive and differences appear; Charles I, his wife, and his mother-in-law; Dissension develops between King and People; Dissension in matters of religion; Parliament, 1640-2; Drifting into war; The First Civil War; Civilian affairs; Political debate; The execution of Charles I; More fighting; The Interregnum; The Stuarts restored.

1966 155 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

BRITAIN AND EUROPE, 1871-1939

R. C. Birch, Shebbear College

This book gives an integrated account of British and European history from 1871 to the outbreak of World War II. It provides the background for a study of both World Wars, analyzing the causes and effects of World War I and the situation in European countries and the United States between the wars. Eight maps, and illustrations are included.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

Britain: Gladstone and Disraeli, 1868-1885; Social and economic changes; the rise of labour; Bismarck and the defence of the German Empire; France: the Third Republic; Russia: the seeds of revolution; The expansion of Europe; The relations between the Great Powers, 1890-1904; The coming of war; The Great War; Peacemaking; Russia: revolution and the Soviet state; Western Europe, 1919-29; The United States: Depression and its aftermath; Britain: Commonwealth and Empire; The dictators; International relations, 1926-36: the missed opportunities; The road to war, 1936-39.

1966 320 pages Flexi-covered, $3.50

THE DEVELOPMENT OF SCIENTIFIC METHOD

W. S. Fowler, University of Sheffield

This book deals first with the historical aspect of science, then traces the evolution of scientific method via scholasticism and the medieval realists to Newton. A discussion on Kant is followed by Mill and the canons of experimental inquiry, and the birth of pragmatism. The final overthrow of the Aristotelian logic is considered. Special attention is given to the problems of method indication by the birth of atomic physics.

CONTENTS

The heroic age of science; Aristotle and the origins of method; Theology the queen of the sciences; The Copernican revolution; Method and metaphysics; Revolution and experiment; The exploration of nature; The nature of method; Books for further reading; Glossary of principle names.

1962 116 pages Flexi-covered, $1.45

EVOLVING COMMONWEALTH

T. Soper, Overseas Development Institute, London

Most Commonwealth history texts contain a mass of factual information about individual countries, but relegate the recent events to a single chapter at the end. Dr. Soper devotes about half of his text to the rapid changes in the Commonwealth which have taken place since 1919, and confines the information about the Commonwealth from the sixteenth to the twentieth century to the essential historical antecedents to these events. This book is thus not only a history text but also a commentary on current affairs set in a historical context.

CONTENTS

The first British Empire to 1783; The second British Empire to 1872; The new Imperialism of the second British Empire 1810-1914; The British Commonwealth and Empire 1919-1939; The commonwealth 1945-1965; Maps.

1965 154 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

PATTERNS OF CARE FOR THE MENTALLY SUBNORMAL

M. Craft, North and Mid Wales Hospitals for the Subnormal
L. Miles, University of Edinburgh

This book provides an up-to-date summary of new developments and methods in the diagnosis and treatment of mental sub-normality.

CONTENTS

The term "sub-normal"; Variations on the theme of sub-normality; The prevalence of mental sub-normality; Trends in a hospital service; Trends in a community service; An analysis of "sub-normality" admissions to Welsh sub-normality hospitals in 1964; An enumeration of those needing all types of sub-normality care in Wales on 1st January, 1965; Patterns of sub-normality care in other societies; Hospital functions; Towards a comprehensive service for the sub-normal.

Summer, 1967 approx. 110 pages approx. $5.50

PERCEPTION AND COMMUNICATION

D. Broadbent, Medical Research Council, Cambridge

This work reviews recent experimental work within the field broadly known as 'attention' with particular emphasis on hearing rather than vision. The results are discussed in the theoretical framework of information theory and related to experimental data from animals. The book will be of interest to graduate students in experimental psychology.

CONTENTS

Hearing and behaviour; Selection listening to speech; Verbal and bodily response; Assessment of communication channels for ease of listening; Effects of noise on behaviour; General nature of vigilance; Some data on individual differences; The nature of extinction; Immediate memory and the shifting of attention; The selective nature of learning; Recent views on skill; Retrospect and prospect; References; Index.

1958 338 pages $8.50—$9.35 Canadian

PERCEPTION AND THE CONDITIONED REFLEX

Ye. N. Sokolov, Moscow State University

This volume analyzes in detail the role of conditioned and unconditioned reflexes in perception. Experiments reveal the parts played by orientation, adaptation and defense reflexes in sensory and perceptual processes. The book is suitable for graduate courses in perception and will be of interest to students of psychology and psychiatry.

CONTENTS

General aspects of the theory of perception; The perception on non-signal stimuli; Perception of signal stimuli; Reflex mechanisms in the action of stimuli on analysers.

1963 320 pages $12.00—$13.20 Canadian

CONTENTS

Intelligence; Personality; Speech and language; Memory and Learning; Perception and orientation; The future of clinical psychology; Bibliography; Index.

1965 196 pages Flexi-covered, $3.50

THE MENTALLY RETARDED CHILD

A. R. Luria, Moscow
Translated by W. P. Robinson, University of Hull

This collection of eight essays by members of the Russian Institute of Defectology, headed by Professor Luria, aims to present an account of much of the research done by the Institute in the field of mental retardation. The subject is approached from the educational rather than the medicinal point of view in order to formulate a scientific basis for remedial teaching, and emphasis is placed on the importance of speech in the mental development of the retarded child. The book will be of value in courses on the psychology of exceptional children and abnormal psychology.

CONTENTS

The problem of mental retardation and its study; The clinical characteristics of mentally retarded children. Child-oligophrenics; Peculiarities of the electrical activity of the brain in child-oligophrenics; Peculiarities of the orientation reflexes in child-oligophrenics; Peculiarities of the higher nervous activity of child-oligophrenics; The role of speech in the formation of temporary connections and in the regulation of the behaviour of child-oligophrenics; Peculiarities of verbal associations in child-oligophrenics; Some results and conclusions.

1963 200 pages $7.50—$8.25 Canadian

OPTICAL ILLUSIONS

S. Tolansky, University of London

This book considers geometrical optical illusions, a subject which has received little attention since the nineteenth century. Illustrations and photographs show how mistakes arise in visually assessing curves, distances, parallelism, and a section is devoted to illusions of the Moon as shown in paintings. The book will make interesting supplementary reading in courses in perception.

CONTENTS

Illusion in nature; The effect of weak wings; Convergence-divergence; Some further illusions; Irradiation illusions; Crossed-bar illusions; The setting sun and moon illusions, the moon on the horizon; The moon in art; Illusions produced by hatched lines; Illusions involving oscillation of attention; Illusions due to instrumentation; Conclusion; Bibliography.

1964 157 pages $5.00—$5.50 Canadian

THE FAR EAST
A Concise History

F. C. Jones, University of Bristol

This work is an outline history, intended as a preliminary survey of the History of the Far East (China, Japan, Korea) from earliest times to the present day. The emphasis is on the modern period, i.e. from the beginning of the nineteenth century. The book should prove useful as a short text for one semester courses on the Far East or as a supplementary text in courses of World History.

CONTENTS

Introductory; The Far East as a regional entity; The Far East in ancient and mediaeval times; Far Eastern civilization at its zenith; The era of Western domination; Japan as the great power of the Far East; The growth of Chinese nationalism; The greater East Asia War; the triumph of communism in China; The recovery of Japan.

1966 150 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

FRAGMENTS OF A REVOLUTION
Essays on Indian Problems

M. Chalapathi Rau

Presenting a comprehensive picture of modern India since the death of Nehru, this book describes the way in which the traditional society is going through a transitional phase.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

Five thousand years; How freedom came; Congress: 1855-1964; Evolution of Gandhi; Ark without covenant; Making of a nation; Parliamentary democracy; Planning: illusion and reality; Three plans; Village community; Bureaucracy and bureaucratism; Science and society.

1965 118 pages Flexi-covered, $2.75

FROM SCHUMACHER TO BRANDT
The Story of German Socialism 1945-1965

D. Childs

A comprehensive guide to the post-war development of the German Social Democratic Party, the volume also examines certain fundamental questions which socialists, and all interested in politics, have long discussed. In addition, the book analyzes carefully the development of post-war Germany in a way to engage the general reader as well as the specialist. This scholarly and controversial work should be of great interest to all concerned with politics, directly or indirectly, and particularly to those taking German history courses.

CONTENTS

What the SPD never was; Power in the SPD; Ethics ousts Economists; Bonn is not Weimar but...; Socialization; The trade unions and the Allies; Socialization; The Social Democrats think again; Defence of foreign policy; The SPD's continuing dilemma; The future of the SPD; Chronology of dates; West German election results; A note on the constitution; Who was who and who is who in German Social Democracy 1945-1965; Who was who in Social Democracy before 1945; Glossary of terms; Notes and sources.

1966 192 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

HOW TO FIND OUT IN HISTORY

P. Hepworth, City Librarian, Norwich, England

Philip Hepworth has written a most readable guide to sources of information in history which will not only be of value to the historian and the librarian but will also interest the general reader. English, American, French and German sources are given in considerable detail, and there is an unusually high proportion of space devoted to local history and associated subjects like heraldry and genealogy. This book will be of use to all students of history, particularly those in first year studies, as an aid in locating the appropriate sources for their work.

1966 225 pages Flexi-covered, $3.75

MAJOR CONTROVERSIES OF CONTEMPORARY HISTORY

J. de Launay, Secretary General of the International Commission for the Teaching of History

Translated by J. J. Buckingham

Sixty-two controversial points concerned with the causes and events of the two World Wars are examined in this unique book. From the 11,000 books on the period 1914-1945, 1000 were selected and relevant information collated and sorted by the use of data processing equipment. The author analyzes this information and presents the issues clearly.

CONTENTS

The outrage at Sarajevo—28th June 1914; The Austro-German Alliance; Great Britain and the Franco-Russian Alliance; The War of Movement—1914; The War of Attrition; The confusion of 1917; The peace of Versailles; The United States of Europe; The Rise of Fascism; Immediate causes of the Second World War; The Blitzkrieg; The World War; Unconditional surrender.

1966 344 pages $6.00—$6.60 Canadian

NAPOLEON III AND EUROPE

Edited by J. de Launay

This is a timely reappraisal of Napoleon III, sponsored by the International Commission for the Teaching of History. An impartial attempt is made by four historians to assess the character, aims, achievements and influence of Napoleon III.

CONTENTS

Foreword by Jacques de Launay; Napoleon III and the Balkans by Paul Henry; Cavour, Napoleon III and the Unification of Italy by Ottavio Barie; Bismarck's Europe by Jacques Willequet; The true place of Napoleon III in the History of Europe by Emile Lousse; Bibliography, 1852-1890; List of illustrations.

Spring 1967 170 pages $6.00—$6.60 Canadian

AN INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHOANALYTIC THEORY OF MOTIVATION

W. Toman, Brandeis University

This book presents an introduction to analytic theory for those not oriented to psychology and psychiatry. The author attempts to systematize Freudian theory and to add certain clarifications. Analytic theory is applied to everyday life, to the development of personality from childhood to adulthood, and also to psychotherapy. The book will be of value in undergraduate courses on child development and abnormal psychology as well as in graduate courses on psychoanalytic theory and projective techniques.

CONTENTS

Part I: Conceptual Introduction. Psychological forces; Control of desires; Derivative desires, cathexis and object-formation; Deprivation of desires and anxiety; Counter-cathexis and defense; Defense mechanisms; Aggression; Comment on consciousness; The super-ego, quantitative aspects; Primal desires; Summary and forecast. Part II: The Theory at Work. Infancy (the first year of life); Early childhood (the second and third years of life); The Oedipal stage; Latency period (from six to twelve years); Puberty and adolescence; Choice of professions; Marriage and parenthood; A system of psychopathology; Psychotherapy; General considerations; A case of psychotherapy (a brief glance); Epilogue; Bibliography; Index.

1960 355 pages $9.00—$9.90 Canadian

LABORATORY EXPERIENCE IN PSYCHOLOGY

B. Babington Smith, Oxford University

A practical introduction to laboratory experience for the beginning student in psychology which will provide a foundation for further reading. . . "A well developed, careful, systematic and stimulating approach to introducing students to methods of observation and experimentation."—American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Demonstrations and eyewitness accounts—fidelity of report; Serial reproduction and the assessment of changes of meaning; Getting beneath recognition; "Weight"—a study of physical and perceptual dimensions; "Extent" and "Density", and a paradigm of perceptual learning; "Length"—and the development of a frame of reference; Discussion and findings; Index.

1965 264 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

MENTAL TESTING IN CLINICAL PRACTICE

M. Williams, Littlemore Hospital, Oxford

This book is a concise and comprehensive review of mental testing in the clinical field, written for those who are familiar with clinical problems but unfamiliar with the scope and practice of mental testing and with the specialized terms used in this field. In particular, the aim is to describe (1) The most useful and important tests available, (2) Their sphere of application, (3) Their material, methods of scoring and interpretation. Not for the clinical psychologist, this book will appeal to the teacher who wishes to become familiar with mental testing as used diagnostically and especially to those taking senior courses in educational psychology.

CONTENTS

Part I: Theoretical and Practical Problems. Introduction; Historical survey; Theories of hypnosis; Pavlovian theory; Theories inspired by experimental psychology; Psychoanalytic theories; Hypnosis and sleep; Animal hypnosis; Hypnotizability; Applications; Hypnosis and psychoanalysis; Instruction in hypnosis; Indications. Part II: Techniques of Hypnosis. Introduction; The preparatory talk; Tests of suggestibility; Induction; Deepening the trance; Awakening the patient; The subject's experience of the trance; Hypnosis with drugs; Specialized techniques; Autohypnosis; Group hypnosis; Hypnodrama. Part III: Techniques Derived from Hypnosis. Bibliography.

1966 176 pages $7.25—$8.00 Canadian

INDUSTRIAL PSYCHOLOGY

J. Munro Fraser, College of Advanced Technology, Birmingham

This book is an outline of the aims and purposes of industrial psychology and the theories and methods utilized in achieving these aims. The work can be used as a supplementary text in personnel and industrial training courses.

CONTENTS

The problems of industrial psychology; Performance studies—the work of Taylor and Gilbreth; The individual's interpretation of the world around him; Needs and their satisfaction; Needs and their frustration; The individual and the group; Jobs and people; Assessing the individual; Current developments in industrial psychology; The value of industrial psychology; Index.

1962 181 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

AN INTRODUCTION TO PSYCHIATRIC NURSING

D. Boorer and H. Boorer

A simple basic textbook whose aim is to teach the psychiatric nurse to do her work with sympathy, imagination and skill. The book describes the working of the mental hospital community, classifies mental illnesses, and offers the nurse practical guidance in meeting individual patients.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

The work of the nurse in the mental hospital; The healing team; Depression and suicide; Aggressive behaviour; Feeding difficulties; The admission ward; The geriatric ward; Observation of physical signs and symptoms; Washing and bathing; Giving medicines; Care of the physically sick.

1966 176 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

NAZISM 1918-1945

M. J. Thornton

An introductory survey of the Nazi regime which considers the basic ideology of the movement, the early life of Adolf Hitler and its effect on later events, the growth and organization of the Nazi party, their consolidation of power until they affected every aspect of German life, Hitler's foreign policy, and Nazism in Occupied Europe.

CONTENTS

A view of life; The Fuehrer; The elite; The collapse of German democracy; The tortuous path to power; The Nazi revolution; Nazi Germany; The expansion of Hitler's empire; Nazism's new European order; Nazism in decline; Germany divided; Chronological table of events; Suggestions for further reading.

1966 192 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

PERGAMON GENERAL HISTORICAL ATLAS

Edited by A. C. Cave and B. S. Trinder

Although the atlas presents pre-history, Ancient Greek and Roman Civilizations and British, European and World development through the Middle Ages, the accent is on modern economic, political and cultural history.

27 21.25 cms. (10" 8"), 64 pp. of maps, printed in four colors, 16 pp. Gazetteer.
1967

A STUDENT'S HISTORY OF RUSSIA

S. Jones, Shrewsbury Technical College

A brief straightforward account of the history of Russia from early times to the present day, which will be a useful introduction to the subject for freshmen students. Special emphasis has been laid on the modern period and the emergence of Russia as a major world power. Additional features are a chronological list of dates, four maps, and a guide to further reading.

CONTENTS

List of Maps; The foundations of the Russian State; The great Romanovs; Nineteenth century Russia; The Communist era; Appendix; Further Reading; Chronological list of dates; Glossary; Index.

1966 221 pages Flexi-covered, $3.25

TECHNOLOGY AND SOCIAL PROGRESS

R. A. Buchanan, Bristol College of Science and Technology

This book analyzes the emergence and evolution of a fully industrialized technological society in Britain, from the point of view of the impact which the dynamic development has made on the conditions of life of the people. Covering many aspects of British social history, this book should be of value to those studying British history from the eighteenth century to modern times.

CONTENTS

Prelude to the industrial revolution; The growth of modern industry; The development of transport; The development of communications; The changing pattern of life; The political implications of technology; The new society; Books for reference and further study.

1965 172 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

See also, under Political Science and Economics, Towards International Cooperation by S. Lewis.

POLITICAL SCIENCE AND ECONOMICS

ASPECTS OF BRITISH POLITICS 1904-1919

D. Collins, University of Leeds

This informative account of British foreign policies during the years 1904-1919, illustrates the varied reactions to changes in policy made necessary by Britain's relative loss of power at the beginning of the twentieth century, the effect of war on the nature of foreign affairs and the traditional machinery for the execution of foreign policy.

CONTENTS

International friendship; Developments in Whitehall; Opinions and realities; Liberals in war time; New men and new ways; Propaganda and economic warfare; Anglo-American relations; The demand of a democratic foreign policy.

1966 372 pages Flexi-covered, $5.00

BRITISH POLITICS 1918-1964

L. J. Macfarlane, Oxford University

This account of the main political events in British history from 1918-1964 covers both home and foreign policy with recent events covered in the greatest detail.

CONTENTS

Foreword; Introduction; The last fit for heroes (1918-1923); Socialist interlude (1923-1924); Back to Baldwin (1924-1929); The second Labour Government and the economic crisis (1929-1931); The road to war (1931-1939); Britain at war (1939-1945); Labour in power (1945-1951); Conservative affluence (1951-1964); Into the future; Bibliography; Index.

1965 184 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

HANDBOOK OF COUNSELING TECHNIQUES

Edited by E. Harms and P. Schreiber

This volume provides guidance on a wide range of counseling techniques for both professional and lay people. It surveys the major fields of counseling—children and youth, family and community, employment and vocation, religion and special problems. Case illustrations are given and procedures and techniques are discussed.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

Counseling; Some historical highlights; Principles of counseling; Child care counseling; Counseling techniques in child welfare; Counseling in schools; The faculty advisor; Child protection; The counseling of delinquents; Marriage counseling; Counseling adults in leisure and recreational activities; Vocational counseling; Rehabilitation counseling; Counseling techniques from the Catholic point of view; The Protestant point of view in counseling techniques; The Rabbi as counselor; Quaker counseling; Counseling with older adults; Counseling techniques in psychiatric social work; Counseling handicapped children and their parents.

1964 506 pages $12.00—$13.20 Canadian

HUMAN GROWTH AND THE DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONALITY

J. H. Kahn

The stages of development from birth to old age are discussed in this book. The various sources of personality traits are considered and there are chapters on early infancy, on play, on the child's relationship to the various types of schools, and on social problems of education. The book is suitable for introductory undergraduate courses in developmental psychology and personality.

CONTENTS

Human needs; Definitions of personality; Developmental stages; The suckling; Toilet training; Infantile sexuality; Rejection; Acceptance—the basis of infant care; The importance of play; Social problems of education; Primary education; The secondary school child; Adolescence; Courtship and marriage; Adult life; Middle age; Old age; Deprivation and provision—separation and union; Further reading.

1965 240 pages $4.50

HYPNOSIS

L. Chertok, Cochin Hospital, Paris

This work provides a compact yet comprehensive view of hypnosis in its various aspects and reviews the most important work done in Western Europe, America and the Soviet Union. This version is translated from the expanded third French edition, in collaboration with the author. The book will be of interest to students of psychology and medicine.

EMOTIONALLY DISTURBED CHILDREN

Proceedings of the Annual Study Conference, Edinburgh Association of Workers for Maladjusted Children

Edited by S. M. Maxwell

This booklet records the papers presented at the 1965 Annual Study Conference of the Scottish Association for Workers for Maladjusted Children. The information will be of interest to teachers of emotionally disturbed children, social workers and counselors.

CONTENTS

Introduction; The young delinquent; Maladjustment in Sweden and Scandinavia; Prevention in Denmark; The day care approach to emotionally disturbed children.

1966 64 pages Flexi-covered, $1.75

EXPERIMENTS IN BEHAVIOUR THERAPY

Edited by H. J. Eysenck, University of London

The articles in this book consider recent efforts to apply modern learning theory and conditioning methods to the treatment of mental disorder. Many different disorders are covered, including general neurotic and psychotic conditions as well as quite specific disorders such as asthma, stammering and tics. Although most of the book deals with the treatment of adults, a lengthy section is devoted to children's disorders. The book will be of value to students in counseling, educational psychology and clinical psychology.

CONTENTS

Foreword; The nature of behaviour therapy. Part I: Reciprocal inhibition. Part II: Operant conditioning. Part III: Other methods. Part IV: Behaviour therapy with children. Author index; Subject index.

1964 558 pages $15.00—$16.50 Canadian

EXPLORATIONS IN TYPING PSYCHOTICS

M. Lorr, Catholic University of America

Nine papers present the findings of a series of investigations aimed at identifying psychotic types. For the first time, modern quantitative approaches are used to define patient characteristics in order to establish a comprehensive and objective classification scheme for the psychotic disorders. The book will be useful as a supplementary text in undergraduate courses in Abnormal Psychology and for graduate courses in psychopathology and psychiatric diagnosis.

CONTENTS

Part I: Problems in Typing. Introduction; Typing and taxonomy; Approaches to typing: a critique. Part II: Interview-Based Types. Acute psychotic types; Reliability of the acute psychotic types; Validity of the acute psychotic types; Chronic psychotic types; Types based on repeated measurement. Part III: Ward and Community Behavior Types. Ward behavior types; Behavior patterns of schizophrenics in the community; References; Indices.

1967 250 pages $9.25—$10.20 Canadian

BRITISH POLITICAL ISSUES

E. Liggett

These two volumes provide an interesting survey of current political issues in Britain and the economic, social industrial and defense considerations which concern the political parties.

CONTENTS

Volume 1: Introduction: Historical background to the political debate; Conservatism in theory and practice; Socialism and the Labour Party; The new Liberalism; The Political divide; The current political scene: at preview. I Political—Government and parties; Justice; Administrative law Political information.

Volume 2: II Economic—The economic scene; Areas of failure; The way ahead; III Industrial—The trade unions as a national movement; Trade union efficiency; organization and structure; The Factory floor: IV Social—The debate on social obligation; Socialist expansionists; Conservative innovators; Liberal empiricists; Problems of social administration. V Defence—In the age of deterrent; The British deterrent; Labour and the bomb; The unilateralists; Liberal defence policy; A western deterrent?

Volume 1: 1965	232 pages	Flexi-covered, $3.75
Volume 2: 1965	335 pages	Flexi-covered, $4.50

CAPITAL-OUTPUT-EMPLOYMENT RATIOS IN INDUSTRIAL PROGRAMMING

W. Lissowski, Central School of Planning and Statistics, Warsaw

This work is a theoretical study of capital-output-employment ratios in the programming of future industrial growth. The book will be of interest to students in courses of economic planning or policy, as well as to those engaged in industrial planning, and research on economic growth.

CONTENTS

Concepts and methods; Capital-labour-output in industry; Capital-labour-output ratios in programming industry; Appendices.

1965 245 pages $10.00—$11.00 Canadian

THE CHANGING PATTERN OF DISTRIBUTION

N. A. H. Stacey, Director, Chesham Amalgamation and Investments, Ltd., England

A. Wilson, Managing Director, Industrial Market Research, Ltd., England

This book is a critical study of the methods employed for the distribution of goods from the manufacturer to the consumer through wholesale and retail channels in Great Britain, the United States and Europe, and it contains an analysis of the changing nature and functions of the distributive trade. Recommended to the business student in marketing courses in which international distribution systems are emphasized.

CONTENTS

Evolution of the "service economy"; Retail distribution in Great Britain; Wholesalers and the wholesale function; New forces acting on the distributive channels; American retrospect; Productivity in the retail trades; Future trends in retailing; Wholesaling and the new intermediaries; Producers' role in distribution; Consumers' stake in distribution; Flow of goods; Costing the channels; Influence of hire-purchase; Distributive problems in British-European trade; Developments since 1958; The next ten years 1964-1974; Appendices; Bibliography; Glossary of terms; Index.

1965 436 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

THE DISTRIBUTIVE SYSTEM

S. R. Hill, University of Aston

An analysis of the developments which have taken place in the distributive system in the last ten years, with a detailed examination of the present main distributive pattern and its probable future development. The book based on four years of academic study, backed by the author's seventeen years' practical experience in the field of distribution.

CONTENTS

The development of the distributive system; Social and economic changes between the wars; The changing role of the wholesaler; Self-service and supermarkets; The Cooperatives; Department stores; The growth of mail order; Other distributive methods; Consumer protection; The future distributive pattern; Statistical appendices; Bibliography; Index.

1966 166 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

EXISTING MECHANISMS OF ARMS CONTROL

W. Young

A collection of papers by international contributors, setting out the experience which has been gained in the operating of existing mechanisms for the international control of war-like materials by certain states who have, in mutual cooperation, set up systems and organizations by formal treaties.

CONTENTS

Western European Union—R. Fletcher; The United States bilateral safeguards system—G. T. Seaborg; The European Atomic Energy Community—J. von Helmont; The European Nuclear Energy Agency—E. Saeland; The International Atomic Energy Agency—J. A. Hall; Conclusion: Atoms for peace and atoms for war—L. C. Bohn; Appendix: Relevant documents.

1966 150 pages Flexi-covered, $4.95

CONTENTS

Part I: Clinical. Diagnosis, Epidemiology, Aetiology; Behavioural and cognitive abnormalities; Prognosis; Medical treatment. Part II: Educational and psychological. A program for the establishment of speech in psychotic children; Psychological testing; Psychological research; Problems in providing special education; A clinical interpretation of remedial teaching; Teaching autistic children. Part III: Social and Administrative. Services for autistic children in Middlesex; Counselling and the principles of management; Prescription of services; An autistic child. References; Index.

1967 340 pages Flexi-covered, $6.00

ELEMENTARY STATISTICS, A Workbook

K. Hope, Edinburgh University

This volume is a brief introduction to modern statistical techniques for undergraduate students in departments of psychology, social science and education. Correlation, analysis of variance, matrix methods, and factor analysis are explained to enable the student to understand and use these techniques. Arithmetic has been kept simple and the author's emphasis is on imparting skills together with the theoretical knowledge.

CONTENTS

Editor's introduction; Preliminaries; Correlation; Analysis; Assumptions; Matrices; Factor analysis; Dishonourable designs; Computational hints; Bibliography; Answers to problems; Table of 5% points of the F distribution.

Spring, 1967 116 pages Flexi-covered, $2.75

ELIMINATING THE UNCONSCIOUS A Behaviourist View of Psycho-Analysis

T. R. Miles, University College of North Wales

The author shows how the terms traditionally used by psychoanalysis can be translated into statements about behavior. Freudian terms are reinterpreted in a manner which suggests that psycho-analysis is not so far removed from other branches of psychology as it has sometimes appeared to be. The book will be of immediate interest to students of psychology.

CONTENTS

Introductory; Psycho-analysis and scientific method; In defence of behaviourism; Mental and physical illness; Inner and outer reality; The unconscious; Unconscious mental processes; Ego, super-ego and id; Defense-mechanisms; Further suggestions; References; Indices.

1966 171 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

CONTENTS

Healthy aging; Psychiatric syndromes and their differentiation; Disorders associated with brain changes; Affective disorders; Paranoid syndromes; Personality disorders in old age; Management and treatment.

1965 182 pages Flexi-covered, $3.95

DRUG ADDICTION IN YOUTH

Edited by E. Harms

This is the first book published on drug addiction in youth written by practical workers dealing with this kind of youth, and as such will be suitable as a text or reference for students of child psychiatry, practicing child psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers. It presents the different phases of the problem in compact form and draws in newer aspects such as "Addictanonymus Treatment."

PARTIAL CONTENTS

Drug addiction in greater New York—E. Harms; Marihuana use by young people—C. Winick; Psychopathology of narcotic addiction: a new point of view—L. MacDonald; The future time perspective of the adolescent narcotic addict—S. Einstein; Institutional treatment of the juvenile narcotics user—S. W. Patrick; Group therapy with adolescent addicts: use of a heterogeneous group approach—S. Einstein and F. Jones; After-care rehabilitation—L. Brill.

1965 221 pages $9.50—$10.45 Canadian

THE EARLIEST YEARS

Growth and Development of Children under Five

O. M. Woodward, Froebel Educational Institute, London

Stages of development from neo-natal to five years are described. There is a full discussion of ways in which parents and nursery school teachers can help the child achieve full physical and social development.

CONTENTS

Introduction; The first year of life; From one to three years old; From three to five; Play; Nursery school education; Bibliography; Index.

1966 142 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

EARLY CHILDHOOD AUTISM

Clinical, Educational and Social Aspects

J. K. Wing, Social Psychiatry Research Unit, London

This book brings together the information which is now available about autistic children and includes case histories and illustrations. Contributions from administrators, clinicians, parents, psychologists, social workers and teachers give a many-sided survey of the nature of autism and make the book a unique contribution to the small literature on the subject. The book will be of interest to those concerned with exceptional children in general, and autistic children in particular.

THE INDIAN UNION AND THE STATE

A. Krishnaswami, Supreme Court of India

The federal system of government that followed the British Rule in India has, until recently, tended to increase the power of the Central Government at the expense of that of the States. Dr. Krishnaswami, distinguished lawyer and politician, gives the case for restoring the position of the Provinces to insure the growth of a healthy co-operative federalism and explains some of the measures that have already been taken to redress the balance. This study should aid students in courses of comparative federalism and Commonwealth affairs.

CONTENTS

From unitary state to federation; Flow of power to the centre; Financial relations between the centre and the states; The finance commissions and the states; Co-operative federalism and national integration; Balance between centralisation and autonomy.

1965 100 pages Flexi-covered, $2.45

INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMETRICS

Second Revised Edition

O. Lange

This book, written by an economist of world-wide repute, contains an account of econometric methods, their historical development, and economic significance. Econometrics may be defined as the science which deals with the determination by statistical methods of concrete quantitative laws occurring in economic life. It results from this definition that econometrics differs from both the theory of economics and economic statistics. This review of principal econometric problems, and the methods employed to solve them will be invaluable to undergraduate students taking courses in econometrics.

1963 384 pages $7.00—$7.70 Canadian

INVESTMENT EFFICIENCY IN A SOCIALIST ECONOMY

H. Fiszal

This book gives a mathematical formulation and analysis of the various aspects of the problems of investment efficiency in a socialist economy, and covers the choice of variant, renewal of equipment and other capital goods and the role the rate of interest may play as a regulator of decision making. Suitable for courses in Operations Research and Industrial Organization.

CONTENTS

The problem of efficiency of investments; Optimum programming of investments; Adjustment of the general method to selected problems; Efficiency of investments and international trade; Optimum production in a socialist economy.

1966 202 pages $5.00—$5.50 Canadian

ONE FROM SEVEN HUNDRED A Year in the Life of Parliament

W. Norris, Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times

Mr. Norris presents an informative and readable account of the events, procedures and personalities in Parliament in the first year of Mr. Wilson's Labour government. This year deserves the careful scrutiny that Mr. Norris gives as a trained observer. An interesting supplement for courses on political issues in modern Britain, or for comparative government courses.

CONTENTS

Came the revolution; The hard facts of life; In the wee small hours of the morning... and the poor get poorer; The pledge and the promise; The rope's end; Guns or butter?; Abroad is a bloody place...; Physician, heal thyself; Weeping, cheers and laughter; Postscript; Index.

1966 131 pages Flexi-covered, $1.95

PLANNING IN THE SOVIET UNION

P. J. Bernard
Translated by I. Nove

The author reviews Soviet planning with particular consideration of the last decade. A valuable feature of the book is the thorough study of the Soviet press, the economic and political literature published on the subject in French and English, and the reports of various missions prior to his own. The book is suitable for use in courses on Soviet economics at the undergraduate or graduate level.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Background; Characteristics of the Soviet system; Ideology and planning; The process of planning; Co-ordination of plans and determination of objectives; Economic organization and economic hierarchy; Problems of economic administration; Regional economic policy; Economic equilibrium and the search for optimization; Conclusion; Postscript; Bibliography; Index.

1966 336 pages $9.50—$10.45 Canadian

POLITICAL ECONOMY, Volume 1: General Problems

Oskar Lange

The first of three volumes concerned with every important problem in political economy, this monograph deals in turn with: the connection between political economy and the materialist interpretation of history, the relation of political economy to praxiology, the problems of social conditioning and the social function of economic knowledge. New and controversial developments are discussed at length. Of vital interest to all wishing to keep abreast of current developments in Soviet economic thought and especially to students in graduate and undergraduate courses in Soviet economics.

PARTIAL CONTENTS

The elementary concepts; Economic laws; The methods of political economy; The historical and subjectivist trends in political economy; The principle of economic rationality; Political economy and praxiology; The social conditioning and the social role of economic science.

1963 236 pages $6.50—$7.15 Canadian

BEHAVIOUR THERAPY AND THE NEUROSES

Edited by H. J. Eysenck, University of London

The book is a collection of articles on the application of learning theory principles to psychotherapy and presents a body of theory and practice that has been developing over half a century. The hypothesis is that neurotic reactions are learned and that the task of therapy is to alter unadaptive behaviors. The book makes an excellent introductory text or recommended reading for students in counseling, educational psychology and clinical psychology.

CONTENTS

Theoretical bases and classical experiments; Reciprocal inhibition therapy; Therapy by negative practice and conditional inhibition; Aversion therapy; Therapy by positive conditioning and feedback control; Summary and conclusions; Name index; Subject index.

1960 480 pages $10.00—$11.00 Canadian

BEHAVIOR THERAPY TECHNIQUES

J. Wolpe, Temple University School of Medicine
A. A. Lazarus, Director, Behavior Therapy Institute, California

This new text meets the need for a compact source of instruction in the methods of behavior therapy and is an excellent practical guide to the treatment of the neuroses. The most widely used techniques are described, as well as recent modifications and some new techniques; many case examples and specimen interviews are included. The book is suitable for use as a text in courses in Abnormal Psychology, Behavior Modification, and Counseling techniques.

CONTENTS

Introduction; Basic principles for the practice of behavior therapy; The gathering of data and the election of techniques; Assertive training; Systematic desensitization; The use of sexual responses; Drugs, carbon dioxide and abreaction; Additional techniques; The results of behavior therapy. Appendices: Life history questionnaire; Personality schedule; Fear inventory; Relaxation techniques. Bibliography; Indices.

1966 198 pages Flexi-covered, $3.50

THE CLINICAL PSYCHIATRY OF LATE LIFE

F. Post, University of London

Postgraduate trainees in psychiatry, geriatric physicians, clinical psychologists, psychiatric social workers and general practitioners will welcome this book by one of the foremost authorities in the field of geriatric clinical psychiatry. The author has made a constructive attempt to apply the results of his wide clinical experience in the chapter on "Healthy Aging", which will be of special interest.

WESTMINSTER WORKSHOP A Student's Guide to the British Constitution

R. K. Mosley, Eastleigh Technical College

A lucid examination of how the British Constitution works today, this text should prove useful for courses in comparative government and constitutional theory. Each chapter contains a section of discussion points, a check list of questions for review, examination questions and a bibliography for further reading.

CONTENTS

The constitution of a country; Basic principles of the constitution; Elections and Parties; Parties, Parliament; Parliamentary control of finance; Parliament at work; More about the House of Commons; The House of Lords; The monarchy; Government departments; The civil service; The nationalized industries; Delegated legislation; Administrative tribunals; The law courts in England; Local government in England and Wales; Local government problems; The Commonwealth and Dependencies; Examination questions and answers; Examination techniques.

1965 206 pages Flexi-covered, $2.95

See also, under Developing Countries, J. M. Jones, The United Nations at Work.

PSYCHOLOGY AND PSYCHIATRY

ATTENTION, AROUSAL AND THE ORIENTATION REACTION

R. Lynn, University of Exeter

This book is a critical review of work and theory on the orientation reaction, a Pavlovian concept meaning the reaction of paying attention to novel and important stimuli. As such it has an important bearing on the problem of attention. The book includes a critical account of work only available in the Russian language previously. Final year students and research workers in psychology and neurophysiology should find this work valuable.

CONTENTS

The orientation reaction; Physiological mechanisms; The habituation of the orientation reaction; Neurological models; Conditioned orientation reactions; The orientation reaction in ontogenetic and phylogenetic development; The orientation reaction in the measurement of individual differences.

1966 128 pages $5.50—$6.05 Canadian

POLITICAL ECONOMY AND ECONOMETRICS, Volume 2 Essays in honour of Oskar Lange

These essays represent a tribute to Oskar Lange by many distinguished scholars in the field of political economy. The book covers all the various aspects of political economy, ranging from socialist to capitalist economies as well as other more theoretical considerations. The book opens with a biography of Oskar Lange showing the development of his ideas and the esteem in which he is held throughout the world.

1966 670 pages $18.50—$20.35 Canadian

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

W. M. Clarke, Editor of The Banker

The author discusses the need for private enterprise to complement Government aid in the developing countries, and shows why this provision of industrial "know-how" is still limited. The book is valuable reading for courses in the economics of developing nations, and in the policies of the major powers towards these nations.

1966 69 pages Flexi-covered, $1.50

RURAL DEVELOPMENT AND THE CHANGING COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD

Edited by P. Manniche

In Part I of this book, Dr. Manniche gives an account of Danish rural conditions and the development and importance of the Folk High Schools. Part II consists of a number of chapters by a distinguished international group of authors, showing the relevance of the Danish experience to conditions in the developing countries. The book is suitable for courses on the developing countries, and comparative government and education courses.

CONTENTS

Part I: Rural Development in Denmark. Rural Denmark; Independent farmers and cooperation; Grundting and the folk high school; Development of the folk high school; The Danish village; Current developments. Part II: The Developing Countries, Some Basic Issues Today. Our relationship to the developing countries; Geographical and economic problems; The nutrition problems; India and Africa; Religious encounter; Cooperation; Adult education and economic development; The folk high school in other parts of the world; International peoples college; An international rural institute. Appendices.

SCIENCE AND POLICY

R. Schrader, NATO

The author's aim is to promote a wider and deeper understanding of science and its interrelation with society. The book deals not only with science in its own right, but also with research and education, technology and scientific application, some economic aspects of supporting research and development, and, in particular, the impact of science and technology on politics and military affairs.

CONTENTS

Science and modern mankind; Research and science teaching; Technology and modern civilization; Economic aspects of supporting science and technology; Science and international policy problems; Military application of science; Science and technology in the under-developed countries; Relation of science and technology to governments; Summary; Bibliography; Subjects index; Alphabetical list of names.

1963 90 pages Flexi-covered, $1.45

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY AND COMMUNISM Some Questions of Development

I. G. Kurakov

The author presents the latest Soviet thinking on the theme: Industrial productivity of research work can engender industrial growth. He shows the role of science and technology in the development of U.S.S.R.'s productive forces and analyzes the problems of planning and of material in science and technology. The book will serve as a reference for courses in comparative economic systems.

CONTENTS

Science as a direct productive force in society; Material incentives for the development of science and technology; General tasks in the development of science and technology; Some directions in the development of science and technology; Planning the development of science and technology; Bibliography; Index.

1967 136 pages $6.00—$6.60 Canadian

TOWARD INTERNATIONAL CO-OPERATION

S. Lewis, Portardawe Grammar School, Wales

This book is based on the author's prize-winning syllabus in a competition organized by the Parliamentary Group for World Government for a detailed course in international relations. The book covers the forces—racial, cultural, historical and religious—which divide mankind and discusses the attempts at international co-operation made by individual nations and such agencies as the United Nations Organization. The book is suitable for undergraduate courses in international relations.

CONTENTS

Part I: The purpose of the book; Differences in living standards; The Industrial Revolution; The Agrarian Revolution; Differences in world education; Differences in world health; The world divided by nationalism; The ideological conflict; Racial prejudice; The divisive aspects of religion, sex and modes of living; The international anarchy of sovereign states. Part II: The need for international understanding; The history of international co-operation; International co-operation in the political field; Co-operation in the technical field; The war against disease; The war on ignorance; The world's hunger; The war against hunger; International assistance; Conclusion; Index.

1966 332 pages Flexi-covered, $4.50

THE UNITED NATIONS AND WORLD REALITIES

M. J. Lee, University of Southampton

This text is an appraisal of the United Nations, how it has dealt with its problems, where the organization has succeeded and where it has failed. The present position of the U.N. is assessed and its opportunities and challenges are clearly delineated. The book, with its concentration on cooperation between nations, serves as an excellent text for courses of general studies, international relations, political science and history.

CONTENTS

The League of Nations and before the U.N. family; U.N. and the defense of peace; Cuba; Five days that shook the world; Positive or negative in outer space; Disarmament and the scared new world; U.N. in the process of decolonization; The Congo; The World Federation; U.N.A.; The international pursuit of human rights; World poverty—Yesterday, today and tomorrow; The prospect for African development; Nations and the U.N.; Developing the U.N. in a crucial area of human activity; Recommended reading.

1966 255 pages Flexi-covered, $3.95

THE UNIFICATION OF THE WORLD Proposals of a Diplomatist

P. de Hevesy

Mr. de Hevesy puts forward proposals on a solution to the problem of the division between East and West, considering means of bringing about reconciliation and understanding and ultimately, the gradual unification of the world. More than fifty years experience in diplomacy and politics in many countries qualify the author to make specific proposals. The book should be of value to students studying international economics, or international relations.

CONTENTS

The human family; Strife or union?; The competitive system; Capitalism, socialism, and communism; Imperialism, capitalist and communist; Feeding the world; The unification of world agriculture; The under-developed countries; A customs and monetary union between the United States and the Commonwealth.

1966 368 pages $10.00—$11.00 Canadian

VON THUNEN'S ISOLATED STATE An English Edition of Der Isolierte Staat

Edited by P. Hall, London School of Economics

The German economic classic on spatial theory is here presented in English with a full introduction on the life of Thünen, a bibliography of references to Thünen in English, as well as a complete glossary of terms. This translation, based on the definitive edition of 1842-63, has been edited to bring out the main points of Thünen's writings. The book is essential reading for students of location theory.

CONTENTS

Introduction; A bibliography of references to Thünen in English; Glossary of terms used in The Isolated State; Conventions used in this translation; The Isolated State (text).

1966 360 pages $15.00—$16.50 Canadian